MusicLearningCommunity.com

Playground for Lifetime Musicians in Training

Dear Parents,

I am a member of MusicLearningCommunity.com—a web-based playground of music learning games and activities that will enhance your child's musical progress. My membership gives my students unlimited access to this website at my studio, at home and from most devices that can connect to the Internet—any time, day or night.

The site is filled with colorful, animated games with imaginative themes. Your child will enjoy exploring the site—and playing the games will reinforce the music skills I am teaching.

This breakthrough website is designed by a leading expert in music and computer-based learning who was described by The New York Times as "a giant of multimedia music who began her work on education computer programs 18 years ago."

Explore the website, and you'll discover that this is a carefully constructed educational site intended to make learning music fun. The pedagogy is solid and is designed to fast-forward the music reading and listening skills your child is learning in our lessons.

To get started, go to www.musiclearningcommunity.com. Type your student's user name and password and click "Log in." Choose a level and then choose any game to play—click Learn, Play, Quiz or Challenge The website is accessible through my subscription on any computer, any browser and most tablets and Android phones.*

User Name_____

Password_____

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

_____

www.MusicLearningCommunity.com
An international community of professional music instructors dedicated to providing their musicians-in-training with exceptional sequential instruction—guiding them into a lifetime of musical enjoyment

*Macromedia Flash Player 9.0 or higher required iPad users: download the alternative browser "iSwifter" from the App Store to play the Flash games.
Type www.musiclearningcommunity.com into the iSwifter address bar.